School support staff deserve fair pay

UNISON members working in schools have played a key part in supporting the education system during very difficult months. After a decade of cuts, it's time for a decent pay rise.

You have faced daily risks to support pupils, going above and beyond to keep them safe and to keep communities going, while 25% has been wiped from the value of your pay since 2010. Now, more than ever, the workers that deliver vital services deserve a decent pay rise. That's why UNISON is calling for a 10% pay rise for school and council workers like you.
