Black and Migrant Workers

UNISON Northern Ireland has over 45 000 members, working in hospitals, schools and community voluntary organisations. Many of our members also work in Private Care Homes.

A group of UNISON Black and Migrant Workers (B&MW) meet regularly to discuss issues and problems they face. This means that UNISON can provide activities, support, courses, or run campaigns that will be specifically relevant to Black & Migrant Worker members.

Here are some examples of services in place as a result.

We hope that you will join UNISON and we look forward to welcoming you in our group!

If you are a B&MW member but never receive any communication from our group, please contact Nathalie n.donnelly@unison.co.uk to be added to our mailing list.*
